The day before yesterday I came through the desert country following the track of the wild beasts under the mountains. I came near my beloved Samal s house, and found that rose-coloured spot deserted. I quickly became anxious with many doubts, and I sent out trusty scouts to all four quarters. If the King knows upon his throne, good luck will come to the ripe fruit of his garden. Wheresoever may be the appointed place for the expedition, let the armies come to the spot agreed on.1 I remember Allah and All, and I recognize the difference between friend and foe as well. Where is my beloved friend Samal? She is not shut up as an idiot in a lock-up, nor is she in the prison of the English. She is staying at...
