By restoring the healthy powers of the constitution, and the general tone of the viscera, particularly the digestive organs. 4th. By removing the eternally recurring causes of irritation in the low country, such as heat, moisture, closeness, c. 5th. By breaking the habit of disease; a consideration of vast importance in some of the most obstinate forms of Indian disease. Fever is the best illustration of this fact; the tendency to a recurrence of febrile paroxysms is increased by repetition to a degree totally unconnected with the debility or extent of organic lesion produced, and only to be accounted for by the all-powerful influence of habit on the constitution. In one of the most obstinate forms of this disease, Intermittent Fever, it is frequently sufficient to put off or change the period of access, to produce a speedy cure, and in most cases, the transition from one type to another, from a Tertian to a Quotidian for instance; in other words, the change of habit,¹¹ is considered a salutary indication. On the other hand, when the constitution has not sufficient power to produce this salutary re-action, or what is worse, when the sudden change of distribution of the circulating mass throws an unusual load on internal organs unfitted by disease for sustaining the shock, the effect must be proportionally mischievous, and cases of this description come under the category of diseases which are not curable by a sudden change of climate; or,...
